Operation Christmas Child Kickoff To Be Sept. 8 At Columbia Baptist Church

Columbia Baptist Church will host a kickoff and informational meeting about Operation Christmas Child at 6 p.m. CT Saturday, Sept. 8. The event, which is supported by Lindsey Wilson College, will be held at the church, 201 Greensburg St.

Operation Christmas Child is coordinated by Samaritan's Purse, a nondenominational evangelical Christian organization that provides spiritual and physical aid to people around the world. Since 1970, Samaritan's Purse has helped worked with victims of war, poverty, natural disasters, disease and famine.

During last year's OCC campaign, Adair County residents donated 979 shoeboxes. This year's goal is to collect 1,303 shoeboxes, according to Carrie Redford, who is coordinating Columbia Baptist Church's OCC efforts.

The guest speaker at the Sept. 8 kick-off event will be Timur Nesbitt, who has experienced the benefits of Operation Christmas Child firsthand.

Nesbitt grew up an orphan in Central Asia. At age 13, he received an Operation Christmas Child shoe box -- the first gift he had received. Inside the box was a yo-yo, candy, school supplies, a letter and photo from a boy in Texas who packed the box.

"The shoebox reminded me of Jesus' love for me, that he forgave me of my sins and that I should forgive my parents for

County's Tax Rate To Stay The Same

BY PAUL B. HAYES
EDITOR

While the majority of the special taxing districts in Adair County voted to increase their 2012 tax rates by the .04 percent rate as allowed by law, the Adair County Fiscal Court voted Wednesday morning to keep the same tax rate as what was levied in 2011.

By a unanimous vote, the magistrates voted to set the general fund real property tax rate at the compensating rate, 12.3 cents per $100 of assessed value. The tax rates will also remain the same for tangible property, 16.62 cents, and for motor vehicles and watercraft, 11.2 cents.

Anthony Bledsoe, of 4370 Pelham Branch Road, was arrested at 5:16 p.m. Saturday and charged with possession of marijuana, trafficking in marijuana -- more than eight ounces, less than five pounds -- and drug paraphernalia buy/possess.

According to Sheriff Harrison Moss, his department had received numerous tips about illegal drug activities at Bledsoe's residence,

City Council Restores Funding To Airport Board

BY WES FEESE

The Columbia City Council met for their regular monthly meeting Tuesday night and heard Columbia/Adair County Airport Board member John Rarey ask the council to reconsider the $7,700 cut in funding to the airport board that the council made in July.

"We (the board) take care of the airport," Rarey said. "You own it though -- we just take care of it for you."

"We promote the airport locally, statewide, and even nationally. Parents of Lindsey students fly in to visit or attend ball games."

After a short discussion in which the council members agreed that

Teaching Children How To Work and The Value Of Money

By Daris Howard

“Dad, I would really like to go on the band trip to the amusement park this year,” my daughter informed me. I looked at our budget and it was squeezed so tight that I didn’t think we could get one more cent out of it. With the number of children we have, myself on a teaching salary, the concept of free education is a misnomer. If my daughter signed up for band it was only free if she didn’t play an instrument or go on any of the band trips. If my son played football it was only free as long as he didn’t need any pads or gear. If my daughter signed up for track it was only free if she wore her own shoes while everyone else wore cleats. And thus the list went on and on.

Every fall we would start out with hundreds of dollars in fees and expenses for the events my children desired to do. We hated to curtail their enthusiasm, but it seemed like they wanted to do everything that came along. It was then, as more and more of my children were getting into school, that I hit on the perfect plan. I tilled up nearly an acre of our horse pasture and planted raspberries. “What are we planting these sticks for?” my son asked.

“These sticks,” I replied, “are going to make it so you kids can earn money for the extra things you want in school.”

My son looked at me dubiously, as though he thought I was quite a few plants short of a full row. I realized it would take at least two years before my investment would start to pay off, and indeed it was hard to weed and take care of them the first two years for very little return. But in the third year the berries came on with great strength. I was out picking berries with my children before 6:00 every morning, picking well into the heat of the day.

What I picked we canned; what they picked we sold. They got to keep half of the money, the other half going to pay the expenses. They could easily make $8 per hour if they worked hard. My one daughter could make almost double that. From my picking, we canned about 200 quarts of raspberries and finally started selling some of them.

I love raspberries, especially as jam on hot bread, or just in a bowl with milk and sugar. I would eat enough raspberries while picking that I wouldn’t even want any lunch. As we were getting toward the end of summer the children could hardly wait to go back to school, especially when I reminded them that I had planted nine different varieties to help extend the season well into fall. When school started, I found myself alone, picking berries each evening after work. No matter how I coaxed I couldn’t get any help.

When it came time for the fees and extras at school that fall, we set up the rules for the use of the money on what we now called the “earn it if you want it” program. If it was required for the class we paid it. If it was extra we paid half and they used their money to pay half.

It was then that we found even more important aspects of this “earn it” program - our children learned the value of money. When the time for the band trip approached, and my daughter had not yet requested we pay our half, I questioned her about it.

“I’m not going,” she replied.

I was shocked. “Why not?”

“Do you know how many berries I had to pick to earn the money that it would take to pay my half? You’re crazy if you think I’m going to pick that much just to go to an amusement park.”

And one last benefit occurred that I hadn’t considered. With the family gathered around one night, one son told me he planned to get an advanced degree in college so he could earn lots of money without having to pick berries all of his life. “College is expensive,” I told him, “If I were you I would get busy picking berries to earn the money in case you don’t get a scholarship.”

It really amazes me how many of my children now get straight A’s in school - working hard for scholarships. I guess I might be picking berries alone pretty soon.

Kentucky Atty. General Conway Announces $69 Million Agreement Over Alleged E-Book Price Fixing Harper Collins, Simon & Schuster and Hachette Resolve Price-Fixing Allegation

Kentucky Attorney General Jack Conway today announced that Kentucky has joined 54 other states, districts and U.S. territories in an antitrust settlement with three of the nation’s largest book publishers. Hachette Book Group (USA), HarperCollins Publishers L.L.C. and Simon & Schuster Inc. have agreed to pay a total of more than $69 million to consumers to resolve antitrust claims of an alleged unlawful conspiracy to fix the prices of electronic books (e-books) and change the way they price e-books going forward. Under the agreement, eligible Kentucky consumers who purchased e-books from April 1, 2010 through May 21, 2012 will receive compensation estimated to exceed $700,000. “Kentucky consumers paid hundreds of thousands of dollars more for some of the most popular e-book titles, as a result of this collusion,” General Conway said. “This settlement paves the way for restitution for consumers harmed by the scheme and restores competition in the e-book market. ## LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

LITTERING DESTROYS OUR STATE

Dear Editor,
It is easy to see what the favorite brands to consume is. All one has to do is drive along all the roads and see. It doesn’t matter whether it is Burger King, McDonalds, Wendy’s, or Budweiser (or brands): they all are littering our roads.

It doesn’t matter whether you are a high-schooler, attending Lindsey Wilson, out on a job, or just having fun, littering is not only against the law, but also shows how much you do not care for our community. People who do not care enough to keep their litter in their vehicle until they get home and can properly place in the garbage are fools who want to destroy the beauty of our state, roads and our neighborhoods.

And I won’t even begin to start on those who drinking alcohol on the roads then chucking their empties as they speed along.

We have one of the most beautiful regions in the entire United States where we live here. Let’s all work hard to keep it that way.

WRITER COMMENDS HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT

Dear Editor
I want to take this opportunity to commend and thank the Adair County State Highway Department for maintaining the roads and highways in our county.

I started out on a trip to Lebanon Sunday evening. It was raining, not too heavily, but I still drove cautiously. When I reached Taylor County the weather had not changed, and I became uncomfortable driving and not being able to see the road very well, but I started using my bright lights and proceeded on.

When I drove into Marion County I could not determine what lane I was in. I tried using the white lines on the right side of the road because the yellow lines were so faded. I felt like I was endangering myself and others, so I turned around and came back home.

When I got back to Adair County, I was so relieved and felt safe once again. The lines on the road were painted and I had no problem knowing if I was in my lane. Thank you, Mr. Junior Brown and your team of professionals for making our county a safer place.

Gov. Beshear overhauls Career and Technical Education in Kentucky

Signs executive order to unite efforts to better prepare students for careers in 21st Century

In a move to help produce the skilled workforce businesses require today and in the future, Governor Steve Beshear today signed an executive order that will overhaul the state’s career and technical education (CTE) system.

The order unites the state’s two CTE systems under the guidance of Kentucky’s Department of Education. The goal is to create a unified, more relevant and efficient system to educate and prepare students for the world of work in a real-life setting.

“It is our responsibility to prepare students for higher education as well as for the workplace,” said Gov. Beshear. “Today’s employers require a workforce that is skilled, adaptable and equipped to compete in the global marketplace. Our students need an education system that provides job-training and learning opportunities that will put them on a career pathway. Transforming and elevating CTE is essential to this process. We must create a career and technical education system that is a first choice, not a last chance.”

The executive order is part of a larger effort to prepare students for a wider range of career options through high-quality CTE programs. Educators, businesses and administrators across the state are working together to make these programs more accessible earlier, more academically rigorous and better aligned with postsecondary requirements and employer needs.

For example, the Kentucky Board of Education has adopted a college and career readiness measure that includes an academic component and a technical skill component. The Kentucky Community and Technical College System (KCTCS) offers dual credit opportunities so that high school students can earn college credit. Kentucky provides funds from the Carl D. Perkins CTE Basic Grant to encourage secondary and postsecondary institutions to develop innovative career pathways.

In addition, the Governor’s Task Force on Transforming Education in Kentucky and the Graduate Kentucky steering committee, led by First Lady Jane Beshear, have both made recommendations to improve career and technical education opportunities and reinforce its role as a critical component of Kentucky’s college and career readiness initiative.

“CTE can make the direct connection for students between education and jobs,” said Education and Workforce Development Cabinet Secretary Joseph U. Meyer. “These programs offer learning opportunities that can inspire all students to explore careers and tackle more challenging courses.”

Studies show that graduation rates are higher among students who participate in CTE programs as opposed to those who do not. These high school graduates are then more likely to transition to postsecondary education or employment.

Seventy-five percent of Kentucky high school students, more than 150,000 pupils, were enrolled in career and technical education programs last year. Career and technical education – offering hands-on training in areas such as agriscience, machine tool technology, health sciences, electrical technology and business administration – is provided at 323 middle and high schools, area technology centers and career and technical centers across the state.

“Bringing the Office of Career and Technical Education into the

Man Injured When Scooter Struck By Van

A 38-year-old Adair County man was transported to Westlake Regional Hospital for treatment Thursday morning after the motor scooter he was operating was struck by a van.

Chris Karnes of Columbia was taken to Westlake by the Adair County EMS following the accident, which occurred at 8:30 a.m. on Merchant Street.

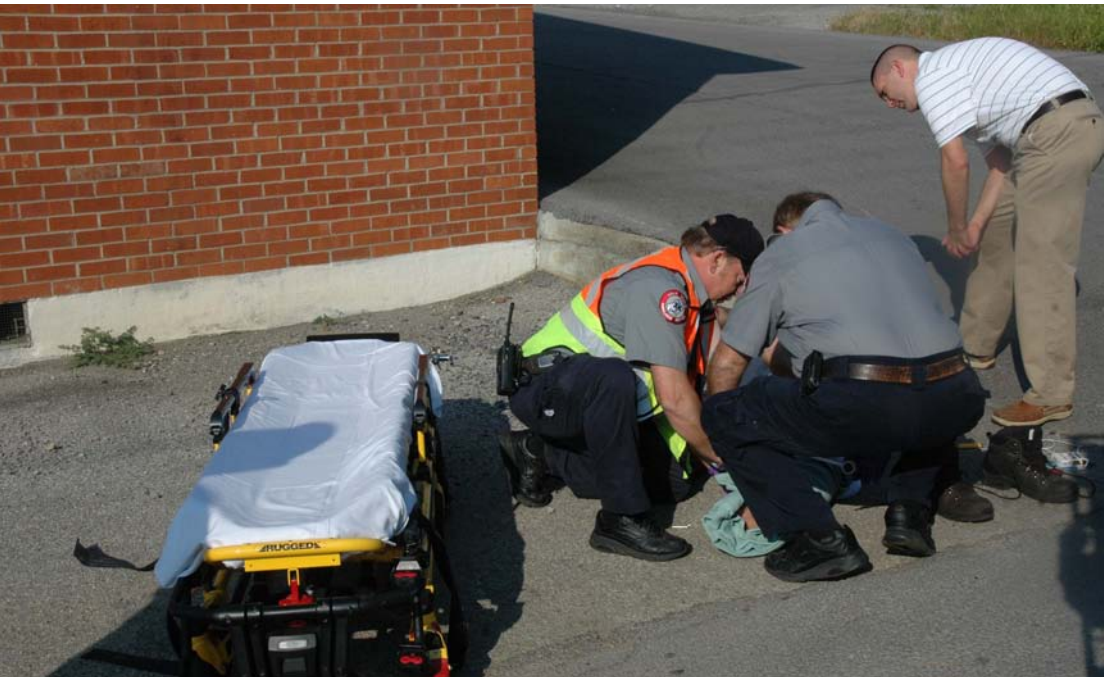

According to the report from the Columbia Police Department, the accident occurred when a 2003 Ford Econoline E150 van being operated by Ronnie D. Bloyd, 48, of Columbia, was traveling westbound on Merchant Street and was attempting to make a left-hand turn onto North Monroe Street when he pulled into the path of the 2012 Yamaha scooter being operated by Karnes.

The accident was investigated by CPD Officer Bruce McCloud.

presidential election) in order to have the matter put on the ballot for a vote.

Clerk Blair said that committee member Vicky Pike stated that the petitions submitted contained a total of 826 names – 71 more than the number needed. However, the names must be verified by the county clerk’s office.

According to Clerk Blair, in order for a name to be certified, the individual must be a registered voter in Adair County, sign the petition for the precinct in which they vote, must both print and sign their name, list their street or road address, and include either their birth date or Social Security number.

The clerk’s office has 30 days

(beginning on Tuesday when the petitions were filed) to check the names and certify them, but Blair said that it shouldn’t take them that long.

“We’ll be working on them when we’re not taking care of normal business, so we should be done checking them within a couple of weeks, and probably sooner than that,” Blair noted.

If Blair certifies that there are at least 755 legal signatures on the petitions, the matter will be put forth for a vote. However, since it is already too late to get the matter on this year’s November general election ballot and there will be no elections in the state in 2013, the issue will not appear on the ballot until November 2014.

In the event that Clerk Blair determines there aren’t 755 valid signatures on the petitions, the hospital district could impose and collect the tax this year. However, the hospital tax would not appear on the regular tax bills, and the hospital district would have to bear the cost of having a special tax bill printed and mailed.

The 3.7 cents tax rate was expected to generate approximately $260,000 in revenue for the hospital district. If the vote on the tax is delayed to 2014, the board would have to come up with additional revenues to replace the tax revenues.

•Heard from Tony Grider about the work going on at the Jim Blair Center. "It's moving, it's pushing forward," Grider said.

• Heard from Robert Flowers about the gas department. Flowers was very complimentary about the work that they've been doing to cut costs, and said that they are saving 24% on gas expenses compared to last year.

•Kentucky Education

Kentucky Department of Education is an excellent move," said Kentucky Education Commissioner Terry Holliday. "Career and technical education directly connects learning and jobs for our students and provides them with engaging real-world opportunities so that they can transition to higher education or employment with ease. This move is a key strategy in our efforts to ensure college and career readiness for all students."

The executive order also establishes a CTE Advisory Committee that will provide guidance in the design and implementation of programs that give all students the best possible opportunity for career preparation in a unified system.

"By bringing together oversight of career and technical education at the state level we will become much more effective in delivering the training our students need and our employers expect," said Rep. Carl Rollins, of Midway.

The signing ceremony was held at Lexington's newest career and technical high school, Locust Trace Agriscience Farm. In addition to classrooms with adjoining labs, the facility features 6.5 acres for gardening, a state-of-the-art greenhouse and aquaculture area, an auditorium to accommodate livestock and machinery, an equine barn and arena and an on-site veterinary clinic. The school offers courses in plant and land science, biotechnology and environmental science, agriculture power mechanics, equine and vet science, and small and large animal science.

Steven Curtis Miller

Steven Curtis Miller was born October 3, 1968 in Greenville, Ohio. He died August 23, 2012 in Lawrence KS as the result of a fatal motorcycle-car accident.

He is survived by his parents, Gaylerd and Marlene (Knight) Miller of Mansfield, MO.

His brother Sam Miller and wife Cynthia of Mansfield MO. His sister Linnea Joy Streeval of Columbia, KY and sister Anita Mardis and husband Jason of Columbia KY.

His three children Stephanie Linnea Miller Unfred of Lawrence KS; Stanley Mylon Miller of Topeka KS; and Wesley Steven Miller of Topeka KS.

Nieces and nephews. Sandra Kreutzeiser and husband Jon, Laura Miller, Hanna Streeval, David Streeval and Destiny Mardis.

Steve grew up in the Seymour-Mansfield area. He attended and graduated from Mt. Zion Bible School of Ava, MO. He married Janice Howard and three children were born from this union. He worked at Mans-steel for several years, and drove commercial trucks for several years. The family moved to and lived near Mitchell SD for a number of years. He established his own business as a licensed massage therapist. After his divorce he moved to Linwood, KSto be near his children. Steve worked there as a massage therapist and certified nursing assistant. He also worked as a self employed home health care giver, giving care to Bob and Flo, and started a wood cutting business. He was on his way to take care of Flo when he was involved in a fatal motorcycle-car accident.

Steve was a hard worker and learned a number of skills including welding, truck driving, massage therapy, nursing, scuba diving, some mechanics and carpentry and plumbing ability. He had a very green thumb which he learned by listening to his Grandma Miller, as well as to others. He could grow a garden and flowers so good. He loved to fish and to hunt. The days were not long enough to get done all he wanted to do, and he would work late at night many a time. He was a true gentleman. He honored his father and mother. He would almost always bring his mother flowers when he came for a visit, and give her a massage to comfort her.

When he went through heartache and loneliness, he didn't allow it to make him bitter, but make him better. He loved his kids and was always planning how to help them and take care of them. He learned from Dave Ramsey how to get outof debt and save and live economically and invest wisely. He lived to give, to love and to help others. He gave his flowers to people while he was living. Steve loved his Aunt Carol and Carol loved Steve. He could do anything with her and she loved it. He was always smiling, humming, whistling or singing as he went about his day. He could be a little omery by times. He loved to gather around the piano with his family and sing the old hymns of the church. Steve was fairly quiet and soft-spoken but showed his faith by the way he lived and loved. He was always home for family reunions and gatherings.

Steve was engaged to be married to Selena Feiden on December 12, 2012 at 12:12 PM. As his father, as I grieved and prayed, it seemed I could hear Job getting the news that all 10 of his children had been killed by a whirlwind - a tornado. His response was 'The Lord gave'. I can understand that part. God gave Steve to us and he was such a blessing. Then Job didn't say they died in a tornado or accident, he said 'The Lord hath taken away'. Blessed be the name of the Lord. With Job I will trust the Lord's wisdom and dealings, and give praise to Him for all His blessings to us and to Steve. In His wisdom He has called Steve home and we give Him praise. And as his sisters have said, I imagine his guardian angels are wiping their brow and are greatly relieved their responsibility to take care of Steve is over. He kept them very busy. Steve, through tears we say we love you so much, and miss you already, and look forward to family reunions in a better place sometime soon.

Our family chain is broken And nothing seems the same.

But as God calls us one by one

The chain will link again. Funeral services were held at 10:00 A.M., Tuesday, August 28, 2012 in Mt. Zion Bible School Auditorium, near Ava, Missouri with burial following in the Mt. Zion Cemetery.

defendants, we hope to provide additional restitution to Kentucky consumers who have been harmed."

The settlement is in conjunction with a civil antitrust lawsuit filed yesterday in U.S. District Court for the Southern District of New York against Hachette, HarperCollins, and Simon & Schuster. The lawsuit alleges that the three settling publishers and others "conspired and agreed to increase retail e-book prices for all consumers" and "agreed to eliminate e-book retail price competition between e-book outlets, such that retail prices to consumers would be the same regardless of the outlet patronized by the consumer."

The lawsuit and settlement stem from a two-year antitrust investigation conducted jointly by the Connecticut and Texas Attorneys General and the U.S. Department of Justice's Antitrust Division. That investigation developed evidence that the defendant publishers conspired to end e-book retailers' freedom to compete on price by controlling wholesale prices and substantially increasing the prices that consumers paid for e-books. The department said the publishers prevented retail price competition, resulting in consumers paying millions of dollars more for their e-books. Under the proposed settlement agreement, which the court must approve, Hachette, HarperCollins and Simon & Schuster will compensate consumers who purchased e-books from any of the defendants from April 1, 2010 through May 21, 2012. Payments will begin 30 days after the court approval of the settlement becomes final. Consumers in Kentucky are expected to receive more than $700,000 in total compensation. The settling defendants will also pay approximately $7.5 million to the states for fees and costs of this investigation. In addition to paying the $69 million consumer compensation, Hachette, HarperCollins and Simon & Schuster have agreed to injunctive relief that terminates their existing agency agreements with certain retailers, which previously required the publishers to grant retailers—such as Amazon and Barnes & Noble—the freedom to reduce the prices of their e-book titles. For two years, they will be prohibited from making any new agreements that constrain retailers' ability to offer consumer discounts or other promotions that encourage the sale of e-books.

The proposed settlement agreement precludes these three publishers from further conspiring or sharing competitively sensitive information with their competitors for five years.

A separate lawsuit against non-settling publishers Penguin Group, Inc., and Holtzbrinck Publishers LLC, dba Macmillan and Apple, Inc., remains pending in the Southern District of New York. Consumers who have made purchases from these publishers will be notified by the publishing company if they are entitled to restitution. ## Campbellsville University Dedicates the Class of 2016

BY CHRISTINA L. KERN, OFFICE ASSISTANT

“Build your life on the rock of Jesus Christ, not on what can lead to destruction,” Dr. Michael V. Carter, president of Campbellsville University, said at Campbellsville University’s Class of 2016 Service of Dedication held Sunday, Aug. 26 in Ransdell Chapel.

Carter read Matthew 7 which tells of the parable of the house on the rock. “The parable is a reminder of how to live our lives, to build our lives on solid things that last,” Carter said. “These make for a greater experience at Campbellsville University.”

Carter encouraged students to have a great experience at CU, but said it won’t automatically happen. The experience is a matter of hard work, dedication to studies and a sense of balance.

Carter said he wants students “to look back and say ‘those were the most powerful years of my life.’ Your experience can be a life changing path.”

Michael Jennings, a sophomore of Edmonton, Ky., served as a senator for last year’s freshmen class. He presented a challenge to the Class of 2016: to be an individual and to write their own story.

“You are a blank slate. You have the opportunity to start over and be whoever you want to be...You are the person you show to the world,” Jennings said. “You can be the smart kid in class, even though you used to struggle. You can be an outgoing individual even though you used to be really shy. You help write your story and choose your path from here forth. How are you doing so far?”

Jennings also encouraged freshmen to look to others for guidance. “Here at Campbellsville University we are a family. You may not feel it yet, but in a few months from now the people around you will mean the world to you. We are all in this together.”

Jennings said the Class of 2015 was sitting in the same spot 363 days ago. “How does that make us different from you? We have 363 days’ worth of experience, achievements and mistakes.”

Jennings also assisted in the passing of the Lamp of Learning. The Lamp of Learning appears in Campbellsville University’s academic seal and signifies a stable light for the spiritual, as well as the scholastic path of life. The light illuminates the way to learning, empowerment, exploration, accomplishment, achievement, and even the way home.

The Lamp of Learning was symbolically passed from last year’s freshmen to class to the new freshmen class, the Class of 2016, accepted by McKenzie Young of Russellville, Ky.

Dr. Frank Cheatham, senior vice president for academic affairs, said students can be successful by putting others first, giving 110 percent, being a participant in your education, not saying “I can’t do it,” persisting through to graduation, enjoying the journey by making friends and getting involved, and ultimately by “seeking God’s direction in finding your calling in life.”

Cheatham said, “Thirty percent of students leave college because they say no one cares. Look around you-your mentors and leaders care.”

Campbellsville University is a widely acclaimed Kentucky-based Christian university with more than 3,500 students offering 63 undergraduate options, 17 master’s degrees, five postgraduate areas and eight pre-professional programs. The website for complete information is campbellsville.edu.

Three Adair County Students Named Sen. Jeff Green Scholars For Outstanding Academic Achievement

Eddie Franklin, Kyle Mann and Meredith Murrell of Adair County High School have been named Senator Jeff Green Scholars by the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA) for their outstanding academic performance in high school. Students earn this designation by achieving a 4.0 grade point average each year of high school and scoring at least a 28 composite on the ACT.

These students have also earned $2,500 a year in Kentucky Educational Excellence Scholarship (KEES) awards. Their awards may be renewed each year of college if they continue high scholastic achievement, making the total value of their KEES worth $10,000.

The title honors the late state Sen. Jeff Green of Mayfield, who served in the Kentucky General Assembly from 1992 to 1997.

KEES and other Kentucky student aid programs are administered by KHEAA. KEES awards are funded by net Kentucky lottery proceeds and may be used at most colleges and universities in Kentucky. In some cases, the award may be used at out-of-state schools if the major the student is pursuing is not available in Kentucky. No application is necessary for KEES awards, and students may access their KEES account information on www.kheaa.com by setting up a KHEAA account.

Student Creativity Called Upon For State’s 2012 Conservation Writing And Art Contests

With a new school year now underway, the search for Kentucky’s finest youth writers and artists also begins. Students in grades 1-12 are encouraged to submit creative writing and artistic entries for the annual Conservation Writing and Art Contests sponsored by Kentucky Farm Bureau and the Kentucky Association of Conservation Districts.

This year’s competition, featuring a Writing Contest for grades 6-12 and the Jim Claypool Conservation Art Contest for grades 1-5, is themed “Kentucky’s Forests: Branching Out.” While creativity is a key component to the contests, students will be challenged to think about the environment around them and the efforts they can take to help preserve it. Participants are tasked to share their ideas through short essays and artwork, persuading their readers and viewers to take action toward wildlife conservation efforts.

A better understanding of the benefits that forest conservation brings to Kentucky’s landscape is something that can be enjoyed for generations to come, but this competition also rewards its participants for the time and effort required to create their entries. County-level winners receive a $25 award, regional winners get $50 and the state winners collect $250 for first place, $150 for second place and $50 for third place.

In last year’s competition (focusing on Kentucky’s wildlife), students from 89 different counties submitted a total of 17,189 writing entries while creating an additional 42,924 art entries from 98 counties.

Entries for the 2012 competition must be received at the student’s local conservation district office by December 1. To learn more about the contests and download resource materials – including a teacher’s guide, contest entry form and report forms – visit kyfb.com/federation or conservation.ky.gov.

LESLIE STEPHENS became the first nurse at Lake Cumberland Regional Hospital to receive the prestigious DAISY Award for extraordinary care.

Leslie Stephens Wins Daisy Award At LCRH

Columbia resident Leslie Stephens, a RN in the ICU at Lake Cumberland Regional Hospital in Somerset, has been selected as the hospital’s first DAISY Award winner.

According to the hospital newsletter, Stephens was selected for the consistent quality service she provides to patients entrusted to her care.

A family member of one of Stephens’ patients noted: “Leslie was consistently outstanding in her willingness to go beyond the call of duty in care, compassion, listening, explaining, making phone calls, and most importantly, having an extremely positive attitude.”

The DAISY Award is a national program that rewards and celebrates the extraordinary clinical skill and compassionate care given by nurses every day. It was established in 1999 by the family of J. Patrick Barnes who died of complications of an auto-immune disease at the age of 33. (DAISY is an acronym for Diseases Attacking the Immune System.) Because Patrick’s family was so impressed with the care and compassion provided by his nurses, they established a foundation to recognize extraordinary nurses everywhere.

Stephens was presented the DAISY Award by members of the Nursing Image and Community Council. She is now in that esteemed group of DAISY nurses – providing extraordinary care to her patients every day.

Safe Handling Of Melons

The recent salmonella outbreak traced to cantaloupes grown in Indiana has many Kentuckians concerned about consuming melons, but it doesn't necessarily mean that you have to abstain from eating this fresh summer delicacy. When properly handled, melons can be a safe, satisfying treat.

- Here are some tips on how to safely handle melons:
- Buy melons from a local, reputable source. The shorter the distance food has to travel from farm to table, the less of a chance that microorganisms have grown on the produce. Microorganisms need time to multiply.
  - Wash your hands before and after handling fresh produce.
  - Before consuming, rinse melons with clean, running water and use a clean vegetable brush to scrub away debris on the skin, even if they have been prewashed. Washing the skin of fresh produce is important even if you are going to only eat the inside of the fruit as bacteria on the skin can be transferred to the flesh of the fruit when it is sliced.
  - Do not use dishwashing or hand soap to wash produce. These items have not been tested for use on food.
  - Cut melons using clean, sanitized knives and cutting boards.
  - Once sliced, melons must be stored below 40 degrees Fahrenheit and consumed within a few days.
  - Avoid consuming any melons if the store, restaurant or market does not know where they were grown. You may also want to avoid purchasing pre-sliced melons as you do not know whether proper safety precautions were taken in their processing.

For more information on food safety, contact the Adair County Cooperative Extension Service.

FFA Supporters Have Meeting To Discuss Re-Assigned Ag Position

By Wes Feese

Local farmers, along with other supporters of FFA and the agricultural community, met at the fairgrounds last Thursday night for a meeting to discuss the recently re-assigned ag teaching position at Adair County High School, along with the possibility of getting ag-supporting individuals to run as write in candidates for the school board.

Greg Corbin was the first to speak for the group, which has adopted the name The Adair Agriculture Advancement Association, and he opened the meeting by talking about a conversation he had recently had with Superintendent Alan Reed. “The first thing I did the other night after the [site based] meeting was talk to Alan Reed,” Corbin said. “When I got off the phone, I thought he was coming tonight.” Corbin went on to explain that he understands the difficult spot the superintendent is in, but added, “I can’t tell you exactly where he stands, but he’s not standing here.

“Everytime he talks about it, it’s in the newspaper or on the radio, where no one can ask him any questions.” Corbin then gave the group Reed’s phone number and encouraged all to call him to voice their concerns.

Greg Burton spoke about Reed as well. “He somewhat says it’s not in his control,” Burton said. “But he also kind of says that there’s more cuts coming.” This comment led to a discussion about the very real financial challenges facing the school system today.

Retired former music teacher Pam Foust gave her first hand account of how the budget has been cut in recent years. “I find out after I’ve left that they’ve done away with the music department,” Foust explained. “They told me that money was already allocated for. When the French teacher retired they did the same thing.” Foust went on to suggest that the two band directors help solve the budget conundrum by teaching music classes.

The discussion then switched to whether or not the re-assigning of the teaching position was legal. While the site-based committee does have the authority to re-assign teachers, some suggested that if retired ag teacher Terry Harvey had begun the school year as an active teacher, that position must remain in ag for the rest of the school year. No one was certain if this was the case, but several agreed to look into it.

“This is why we need a better, more efficient school board,” said Greg Corbin.

“If you all can elect three board members,” said Sammy Baker. “You might not get nothing done, but you can make the superintendent’s life miserable enough to do something.”

At this time the meeting broke up into several smaller groups to determine if any possible write-in candidates might be options for the farmers to throw their support behind.

There will be a second meeting, tonight at seven p.m. at the fairgrounds to again discuss possibilities for school board candidates.

Considerations for Next Year’s Tobacco Crop

Much of the Adair County tobacco crop is in the barn or soon will be. It’s a good time to make some notes to help plan next year’s crop. In this week’s article I will share some observations I’ve made that producers may want to consider in the decision making process of planning next year’s crop.

Most years, our main disease concern in Adair County is black shank. Overall, there has been a very low occurrence of black shank in the county. Dry weather conditions early in the season likely played a role in this. However, it’s not a reason to let your guard down. Still consider planting a blank shank resistant variety next year in fields where tobacco has been grown for multiple years.

A moderate outbreak of frogeye and target spot occurred in late July and early August. As past UK research has indicated, fields that received an application of the fungicide Quadris earlier in the season were not as heavily damaged. Concern has been raised among farmers and some disease experts that frogeye and target spot might develop resistance to Quadris fungicide. UK Plant Pathologist Dr. Kenny Seebold has collected disease samples across the state including from three fields in Adair County to test for resistance. Results of the study are expected before next’s years planting.

A fairly new insect control product called Coragen was tested last year by a few producers with positive results. Coragen provides systemic protection against budworms and hornworms. The product label allows for use in the setter water or as a foliar spray. In one Adair County tobacco field where Coragen was included in the setter water, foliar treatments for hornworms and bud worms were not needed for the remainder of the season. Past UK trials in dark tobacco have shown that Coragen used in the setter water provided worm control for as long as nine weeks. It appears that Coragen can be a very useful tool for tobacco growers and help save fuel and labor costs by lowering the number of foliar applications needed for worm control in tobacco.

No-till tobacco acreage for Adair County increased this year as a few more producers adopted the practice. No-till tobacco acreage for Adair County is now estimated at about 20%. No-till allowed fields to better retain soil moisture during the dry spells this summer which may result in better yields. Accurately estimating the yield of standing tobacco is extremely difficult, but I think we will see some very high poundage from some no-till tobacco fields this year.

Two of the most widely planted varieties this year was KT 210 and HB 3307. Both varieties perform very well and have been University tested and farmer proven as good yielding varieties. The main difference between the varieties is that HB 3307 provides minimal resistance to race 1 black shank while KT 210 provides high levels of resistance to both races of black shank. In 2013, we should see a wider availability of KT 212, an early-maturing variety that is similar to 14 X L8, but with moderate resistance to race 1 black shank.

Adair County Delegates at Kentucky Beef IRM Conference

Adair County beef farmer Ben Loy and County Extension Agent Nick Roy attended the Kentucky Beef IRM Conference held in Asheville, North Carolina this week. Thirty Kentucky counties were represented. Delegates identified the top five challenges facing Kentucky’s beef industry and developed action plans to address these challenges. The action plans will aid in directing the programs of both county and state level Extension programs and Cattleman’s Associations. Adair County will develop its own Beef IRM team to work locally in growing it’s beef industry.

Tree Seedlings Now Available

Division of Forestry taking orders for winter plantings

With fall just around the corner, state foresters are encouraging Kentuckians to plan their tree-planting activities now by ordering tree seedlings through the Kentucky Division of Forestry (KDF). By placing your order now, you can select from more than 50 species of trees including white pine, bald cypress, black walnut, white oak, yellow-poplar, dogwood, redbud and many more. These bare-root seedlings can be used by private landowners, as well as the public sector for reforestation, wildlife habitat development, erosion control, windbreaks and numerous other conservation projects.

Seedlings are packaged in bundles of 10 or 100 and range in price from $30 to $48 per bundle. They are available on a first-come, first-serve basis; therefore, it is advised to place orders as soon as possible. Order forms are available online at <http://forestry.ky.gov/statenurseriesandtreeseedlings/Pages/default.aspx>.

For specific information about the availability of various tree species and their prices, contact KDF’s main office at 1-800-866-0555.

Quarterback Jake Hixson threw for two touchdowns in the Indians’ 48-14 win over Clinton County Friday night.

Indians Take Out Bulldogs, 48-14

By Wes Feese

The Adair County football team traveled to Clinton County last Friday night and picked up their second win of the season as they bested the Bulldogs, 48-14.

The Tribe’s defense looked strong in the first, but the initial possession was extended twice due to running into the kicker penalties. Adair finally took over on offense for the first time on their own 16 yard line, and proceeded to march their way downfield. Derek Grant punched one home from nine yards out for the first score of the game. Alex Nickerson’s extra point gave the Tribe a 7-0 lead that would only grow from there.

After forcing a three and out on Clinton’s next possession, Adair found the end zone again as Jake Hixson hit fullback Antonio Mendoza for a 14 yard touchdown. The 14-0 deficit would balloon to 35-0 before the half was over, as Derek Grant ran in two more touchdowns from a yard out, and Hixson found Grant in the open field on a short pass play that Grant ran into the end zone for a 39 yard TD through the air.

Head Coach Travis Gay pulled most of his starters at the half, and the clock ticked nonstop due to the huge deficit, but the Indians’ second stringers held their own with Clinton behind strong running from Arron Bernard and quarterback Brandon Burton.

Bernard showed the ability to run inside and out in the second half, as he shot through the line and then broke for the sideline before cutting back upfield and winning the foot race to the end zone on a 24 yard run. Two possessions later, Burton handed the ball to Bernard on a dive up the middle and Bernard churned his way in from five yards out despite being hit at the line of scrimmage.

Derek Grant was the offensive star for the Indians once again as the senior ran all over Clinton for 73 yards and three touchdowns on seven carries, as well as hauling in two catches for 58 yards and a score, all in the first half.

Jake Hixson completed five passes for 96 yards and two touchdowns. In addition to Grant and Mendoza, Hixson completed an 18 yard pass to Emory Bishop and found Alex Nickerson for a six yard grab. Nickerson also booted four touchbacks and connected on six of seven extra points.

Junior Arron Bernard rushed for 64 of his 90 yards as well as both his touchdowns in the second half. Brandon Burton carried the ball three times for 32 yards.

With the win Adair County moves to 2-1 on the season. They will host Breckenridge County tomorrow night at Adair County High School.

Antonio Mendoza scored his first touchdown of the year Friday night off of a 14 yard pass from Jake Hixson.

At left: Junior running back Arron Bernard rushed for two touchdowns Friday night in Adair’s win over Clinton County.

No. 3 Lindsey Wilson Women’s Soccer Wins on Late Penalty Kick over No. 4 Embry-Riddle

Lindsey Wilson College senior Elisha Fry converted a penalty kick in the 87th minute to lift the No. 3-ranked Blue Raiders to a 2-1 win over fourth-ranked Embry-Riddle (Fla.) University.

The match was the first of four games contested at the Concordia (Ore.) University Cavalier Cup -- an invitational which boasts four of the NAIA’s top-12 teams this weekend in Portland.

Fry’s goal -- her first of the season -- came on the heels an Embry-Riddle foul in the penalty area. The senior calmly found the back net to give the Blue Raiders (1-0-1) the lead and ultimately the win.

Embry-Riddle falls to 1-2 with the loss.

Lindsey Wilson jumped out to an early 1-0 lead after Laerke Lillelund Michaelsen scored an unassisted goal past Embry-Riddle goalkeeper Lauren Gallant’s outstretched hands in the 17th minute.

The Blue Raiders had a three other good chances to add to their lead in the first half only to be turned away by Gallant and the Eagle defense. Lindsey Wilson finished the half outshooting Embry-Riddle 8-2.

In the second half, the Eagles scored the equalizer in the 69th minute as Krizzy Menez scored off a rebound to tie the game at 1-1.

The game remained tied and looked as if the Blue Raiders would have to endure their second straight overtime before the foul and subsequent Fry penalty kick.

Lindsey Wilson finished the match with a 15-8 shots advantage.

Blue Raider goalkeeper Loren Ceraface finished with the win while allowing a goal and gathering three saves. Gallant also finished with three stops in the match.

Lindsey Wilson returns to action at 5:30 p.m. CT on Sunday, Sept. 2, as the Blue Raiders play host and No. 2-ranked Concordia in the final day of the Cavalier Cup.

LWC Football Wins Home-Opener, 36-21 Over Union

The Lindsey Wilson College backfield rushed for 184 yards Saturday en route to beating visiting Union (Ky.) College 36-21 Saturday afternoon at Blue Raider Stadium. LWC led 23-6 at the half as the Blue Raider ground out their first win of the season. Union fell to 0-1.

LWC (1-1) plays University of Pikeville (Ky.) at 12:30 p.m. CT on Saturday, Sept. 8, then returns home Sept. 15 to play Georgetown (Ky.) College at 7 p.m. CT at Blue Raider Stadium.

Lindsey Wilson College’s Brandon Cresap of Shelbyville, Ky., throws a pass in the first half of Saturday’s game against Union (Ky.) College at Blue Raider Stadium. Cresap finished the game 13-of-29 for 142 yards and one touchdown. He also rushed for a touchdown in the victory. (More Photos Page 14)

County Tax Rate

Using the compensating rate, the tax is expected to generate $676,889 in revenue for the county’s general fund. This is $28,578 more than what was brought in last year, with the additional funds coming from new property.

“We’ve taken the four percent increase the past couple of years, but I felt with the possibility of our citizens having to pay the hospital tax, we could get by this year with just the compensating rate,” Judge/Executive Ann Melton said, noting that the four percent increase would have generated only $22,013 in additional revenue.

Magistrate Sammy Baker made the motion to go with the compensating rate, and it motion passed 6-0. Magistrate Joe Rogers was absent from the meeting.

The court then voted to accept the tax rates for the special taxing districts as presented by the districts.

The one exception was the 3.7 cents per $100 hospital tax. Judge Melton said that the paperwork provided by the hospital district does not clarify exactly what the 3.7 cents tax is to be levied on. She said they would have to get clarification from the hospital board before approving it.

She also noted that a petition has been submitted to recall the hospital tax, and if the County Clerk office certifies the petition and the matter of the tax is put to a vote, it won’t be on the ballot until November 2014, and could not be collected.

The 2012 tax rates for the special taxing districts in the county are: (All rates are per $100 of assessed value unless otherwise noted.)

- Adair County School District: 47.9 cents on both real and tangible property, 56.3 cents on motor vehicles and

- watercraft; three percent on utilities.
- Library District: 5.1 cents on real property, 8.18 cents on tangible property, 3.68 cents on motor vehicles and watercraft.
- Extension District: 3.9 cents on real property, 6.15 cents on tangible property, 2.9 cents on motor vehicles and watercraft.
- Soil Conservation District: 1.6 cents on real estate only.
- Public Health District: 3 cents on real property, tangible property, motor vehicles and watercraft.
- Adair County Ambulance District: 3.8 cents on both real and tangible property, 8 cents on motor vehicles and watercraft.
- Fire Protection: $.02 per acre.
- Bank Shares: 0.25 percent.

The court will give second and final reading to the 2012 ad valorem tax ordinance at its regular scheduled meeting on Tuesday, Sept. 11.

A new thing added for this year’s event is a cornhole

County Crusade Chairman Brandon Lewis said that the inaugural concert last year raised over $1,000 for the Crusade, and they’d like to raise even more this year.

“No one in Adair County worked harder for the Crusade

Fall Heritage Festival

Homeplace on Green River borders on the Green River and State Highway 55. Entrance to the farm is off 55 five miles south of Campbellsville and four miles north of the Adair/Taylor county line. The street address is 5807 New Columbia Road, Campbellsville. Watch for the signs and Festival flags.

Homeplace has been a working farm for over 200 years. The original home was built in 1804. It has been added to over the years, but is still standing and in use for farm activities. The farm has been owned by just three families in all its years—the Tates, the Buchanans and the Halls. In 2001 Homeplace on Green River was established by Adair,

Green and Taylor counties. The farm is operated by a foundation directed by a governing board with representation from the three counties. Funding for initial purchase of the property was provided by The Farmland Protection Program. A major effort is underway to renovate the house as well as a Civil War era bank barn and several other historic outbuildings. Once developed, Homeplace will also include nature trails, picnic areas and other opportunities for family activities.

The restoration of Homeplace involves many groups and organizations in addition to the three county governments. The Nature Conservancy, U.K. Cooperative Extension Service, TOUR Southern and Eastern Kentucky, Tebbs Bend Battlefield Association, Heartland Waterways Tourism Corridor, Kentucky departments of agriculture and fish and wildlife, USDA Natural Resources and Conservation Services and others are playing a role in the reestablishment of the farm. Homeplace depends on state and federal agencies, local businesses, individuals and croplands leasing for funding of its on-going operations. It is maintained and operated entirely by volunteers.

For additional information about Homeplace and the Festival, go to www.homeplace farm.org.
